HITLER UNCLE

SAMPLE WEEKLY REPORT

FICTIONAL EXAMPLE / NOT A REAL CLIENT RECORD

Illustration of the weekly accountability review shared with eligible members.

SAMPLE CLIENT Aarav Mehta	ELIGIBLE PLANS Professional ₹699 / Elite ₹1,499
SAMPLE WEEK Sunday, 1 – Saturday, 7 November 2026	REPORT STATUS Weekly accountability review

WHAT THE WEEKLY REPORT COVERS

A factual review of commitments, follow-through, and the next correction.

This fictional sample shows the format of a weekly accountability report. Actual reports are prepared from the member's submitted plans, check-ins, completed work, missed commitments, reasons shared, and coaching observations. The purpose is to make execution visible and support a more realistic plan for the next week.

1 • COMMITMENTS
What the member planned or committed to complete during the week.

2 • RECORDED OUTCOMES
What was completed, delayed, partially completed, or missed.

3 • OBSERVATIONS
Patterns in timing, consistency, distractions, communication, and recovery.

4 • NEXT STANDARD
A practical correction and clearer execution rule for the next review period.

SAMPLE WEEK AT A GLANCE

Illustrative data only — this is not a real member report.

STUDY / WORK AIM	CHECK-IN QUALITY	WEEKLY FOCUS
6 focused hours per day	Regular, with two delayed updates	Earlier starts and clear close-outs

PLAN ELIGIBILITY

Weekly accountability reports are included in the Professional plan at ₹699/month and the Elite plan at ₹1,499/month. The exact report is based on the member's actual updates and is not a pre-written template.

SAMPLE DAILY EXECUTION RECORD

Fictional client / Days 1–4

DAY 1

2 November 2026

Complete 6 focused hours: 2h study, 2h project work, 2h revision.

PLANNED / COMMITTED
Complete 6 focused hours: 2h study, 2h project work, 2h revision.

RECORDED OUTCOME
4 hours completed; first block started 45 minutes late.

Aarav reported a delayed start but completed the first two priority blocks and sent a closing update.
Partially completed.

DAY 2

3 November 2026

Complete 6 focused hours and send start and finish updates.

PLANNED / COMMITTED
Complete 6 focused hours and send start and finish updates.

RECORDED OUTCOME
5 hours 30 minutes completed; updates received on time.

The planned blocks were followed with only a short adjustment to the afternoon session.
Strong execution.

DAY 3

4 November 2026

Complete 6 focused hours before 8:00 PM.

PLANNED / COMMITTED
Complete 6 focused hours before 8:00 PM.

RECORDED OUTCOME
3 hours completed; evening block missed due to an unplanned interruption.

The missed block was acknowledged honestly, but the replacement block was not scheduled until the following morning.
Target missed.

DAY 4

5 November 2026

Complete a smaller 4-hour recovery target and close the day clearly.

PLANNED / COMMITTED
Complete a smaller 4-hour recovery target and close the day clearly.

RECORDED OUTCOME
4 hours completed across three blocks.

A smaller replacement target was set after the previous miss, and the member returned to execution without extending the delay.
Recovery completed.

SAMPLE COMBINED OBSERVATION

How the weekly report turns daily updates into a practical next standard.

The sample record shows that performance improved when the first block was protected, the target was specific, and a closing update was sent. The main correction is not to create a more ambitious plan; it is to start the first block on time, report any delay immediately, and set a credible replacement block instead of leaving the day open-ended.

WHAT WENT WELL
Two days showed clear follow-through and one missed day was followed by a successful recovery day.

WHAT MUST CHANGE
Protect the first block, reduce unplanned distractions, and send a closing update every day.

NEXT WEEK'S ACCOUNTABILITY RULE
Start with one protected priority block, send the start update before beginning, report a delay without hiding it, complete the smallest credible replacement block, and close the day with evidence.

FICTIONAL SAMPLE • No real customer information is used in this document.